The stagnation which now characterizes provide and social circles in the metropolis has not quite extended to the money and stock markets, for in both a fair amount of business has been done during the past week. In the money market there was, up till yesterday, a continuation of last week's firm-mess, and it was even thought possible that there may have the same the bank rate on Thursday. No such advance was made, however, and rates have a firm on the bank rate on Thursday. No such advance was made, however, and rates have from 5 to 54 per cent. For myself 1 am inclines to think that no further rise in the official minimum need be expected uill the automa demands for money are fest; extrainly the social of the bank authorities last week was politie.
