

YORK COUNTY'S SHERIFF DEAD.

A Sudden Call to Dr. Joseph Henry Widdifield.

LONG AND ACTIVE CAREER.

Prominent in Politics Before Entering the Service.

Was Found Dead in Bed Early on Sunday Morning—A Stroke of Apoplexy the Cause—Preliminary Arrangements for the Funeral, Which Will be Held at Newmarket.

Dr. Joseph Henry Widdifield, Sheriff of the county of York since 1888, died suddenly at his residence, "Glenbyrne," 178 St. George street, this city, yesterday morning. A stroke of apoplexy, the second of the deceased had suffered, was the cause of death. The news of his death spread rapidly throughout the city and the county, and was at first received with incredulity by a host of friends and acquaintances. The Sheriff was at his office all last week up to Friday. On Saturday he did not go down town, but was around the house, evidently in excellent health and quite cheerful, and it seemed impossible to those who had been in conversation with him during the previous few days that the news of his demise could be true. Death took place some time between 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning. For a number of years it had been the late Sheriff's habit to rise at or a little before the first hour named, drink two or three glasses of cold water, and then go back to bed again for an hour or so. The servants in the house heard him open the shutters of one of the windows in his room, a usual practice with him. They presume that he had previously followed his custom of drinking the amount of water stated. When he did not come downstairs for breakfast, as was his habit, without being called, and after waiting until nearly 9 o'clock, one of the servants went to call him. Receiving no answer to repeated knocks on the door, she went into the room and found Dr. Widdifield lying on his side and apparently asleep. Efforts to awaken him being unavailing, Dr. Andrew R. Gordon of Bloor street west, the family physician, was promptly telephoned for. He arrived quickly, but saw at once that Dr. Widdifield was beyond human aid. He pronounced death to be due to the cause stated, and thought it had taken place about an hour before it was known to those in the house.

The Relatives Notified.

The Sheriff was unmarried, and his sister, Miss Jennie Widdifield, was his housekeeper. She left the city several days ago for Clifton Springs, New York, for a short vacation, and only the servants were in the house when the death occurred. News of the death was immediately telegraphed for, and telephone messages were sent to Mr. William C. Widdifield, barrister, of Newmarket, and Mr. James E. Widdifield of Whitechurch township, York county, the surviving brothers of the deceased. Both gentlemen arrived in the city at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The only other surviving members of the family, Mrs. Knowles of Pasadena, California, and Mrs. Dowgall of Newmarket, who is at present on a visit to Mrs. Knowles, sisters of the deceased, were also communicated with.

The funeral arrangements, which have not yet been finally completed, provide for a private service at "Glenbyrne" at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The body will then be taken to the home of Mr. W. C. Widdifield, Newmarket, on the train leaving Toronto at 8:20 p.m. The funeral will be held from the residence mentioned to the Newmarket cemetery at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, interment taking place in the family plot.

Anticipating Birthday Celebration.

Naturally the news of the death of their brother was a great shock to the other members of the family. Only a few days ago he had arranged that on June 12 next, his natal day, he would go to Mr. W. C. Widdifield's home, where a family reunion had been arranged in honor of his birthday. He had been in particularly good health of late, and had looked forward to the event with joyous anticipation. At the Easter holidays the late Sheriff visited Mr. W. C. Widdifield's house, and it was there he suffered his first stroke of apoplexy. It was only a slight shock, but it was thought best that no risks should be taken, and so Dr. Widdifield remained at his brother's home and under medical care for about a week. He seemed then to have completely recovered, was able to attend to his duties, and there was nothing to indicate a recurrence of the illness.

The Late Sheriff's Career.

The late Sheriff Widdifield was widely known throughout Ontario, and particularly in Toronto and York county. His friends and acquaintances were numbered by the hundreds and all respected and admired him. He had an excellent presence, a fine face, with an attractive smile, and a warm-hearted, sympathetic geniality which held close those who had the pleasure of knowing him. To young men, especially those starting their career in life, who came into contact with him, he was particularly kind, he knew just how to appreciate their difficulties and how to give advice without "preaching." With all who worked for or with him he was a great favorite. His family is among the very oldest in the county of York, his grandfather, a United Empire Loyalist, having trekked from Pennsylvania and settled on lot 32 of the third concession of Whitechurch in 1790. The farm property mentioned has remained in the family ever since, and Mr. Widdifield was born on the farm on June 12, 1845. His early education was received at Newmarket High School and Victoria University. He studied medicine at Victoria Medical College, this city, and at St. Thomas' Hospital, London, England, graduating M. D. in 1869. In the following year he graduated in medicine and surgery at the Royal College of Surgeons, London, England, and at the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh. Returning to Canada, he practised his profession for a number of years at Newmarket and was also a Coroner for York county.

His Political Experiences.

Up to the time of his appointment as Sheriff he was active and prominent in politics. He ran for the Legislature for North York in the general election of 1875. The constituency, formerly Liberal, had been carried at the previous election by Mr. Alfred Boulton, Conservative, by a majority of three. Mr. Widdifield redeemed it for the Liberals, defeating his opponent, Mr. Erastus Jackson, by nearly 500 majority. He sat continuously for the riding in the Liberal interests until 1888, defeating in 1888 Messrs. Edward Murphy and C. O. Wynham, and, in the last fight, Col. Wynham, the latter by nearly 1,000 majority. In June of 1888 he resigned to accept the position he occupied until the time of his death. During his term in the House he was Government Whip for several years and later Chairman of the Standing Committee on Standing Orders.

Military Student and Traveller.

Sheriff Widdifield was always interested in military affairs, and held first-class certificates from the Toronto School of Military Instruction and from the Toronto School of Gunnery. At the time of the Fenian raid he responded to the call to arms, but owing to the brief duration of the trouble, like many other eager and patriotic volunteers, he did not get to the front. The late Sheriff was a prominent Free Mason and Knight Templar, and had occupied many offices in both orders. He was also for many years prior to his appointment as Sheriff a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and for some dozen years prior to his appointment as Sheriff was Provincial medical examiner for that order. He was also one of the founders and a director for some time, but not of late years, of the Provincial Trust Company, now the Union Trust Company. Sheriff Widdifield, who was a widely read man, had travelled extensively in Great Britain and Ireland and in Europe and the east, including Egypt, Nubia, Palestine, Syria and Turkey. He was an Anglican in religion, a member of the Toronto Club, and formerly a member of the Toronto Yacht Club.

UNVEILED THE MONUMENT.

Tribute of Order of Hibernians to the Late Patrick Boyle.

The decorating of the graves of deceased members of the order and the unveiling of a monument to the memory of the late Patrick Boyle, editor of The Irish-Canadian, were performed yesterday by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. On Saturday the grave of the late Charles Burns in Mount Pleasant cemetery had been decorated with flowers, and yesterday the members of the order, some 250 strong, and many citizens, marched from the C. P. R. tracks to St. Michael's cemetery, where the ceremony of decorating the graves was proceeded with.

The monument to the late Patrick Boyle was erected by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Mr. H. E. Hernon, County President, gave a brief address at the unveiling, and Mr. Frank J. Walsh delivered the oration. The monument is in the form of a Maltese cross, above the cross at the top being the crest of the Boyle family. At the base is a copper plate bearing a fine simile of the heading of "The Irish-Canadian." Mrs. Dowgall of Almonte, a daughter of the late Mr. Boyle, with her husband, was present at the ceremony.

LILLIAN MASSEY SCHOOL.

Commencement Exercises to be Held Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Lillian Massey School of Household Science and Art will hold its third annual commencement in the Normal School theatre at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. Mr. James L. Hughes will take charge of the exercises and present the certificates. Bishop Vincent, Prof. R. Ramsay Wright and Chamberlain Burwash will give addresses. The attendance at the school during the year just closing has been 100; university students, 13; normal students, 17; housekeepers, 10; special students in household science, 12; in household art, 80. In addition over a hundred children have been taught by the Normal students. The students who have completed the eight months' housekeeper's course are—Misses E. M. Bigger, G. Burdette, M. Hall, E. Irwin, L. Shepard, M. Walker.

AUTOMOBILE KILLED HORSE.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Jackson of Whitby Narrowly Escaped Serious Injury.

Mr. C. J. Jackson, local agent of the North Shore Navigation Company, who resides in Whitby, communicated with the detective department by telephone yesterday afternoon and asked the police to apprehend the driver of a large automobile, who ran into his rig and killed his horse while passing through Pickering. Mrs. Jackson, who was in the rig with her husband, was slightly bruised, and the latter narrowly escaped serious injuries. Mr. Jackson was returning from Toronto to his home. He told the police that there were three automobiles running at a terrific speed. It was the first machine that collided with the rig, and the occupants of the auto, who were going towards Toronto, did not wait to see what damage they had done. As the numbers on the machine were covered with dust Jackson could not discern them.

The argument in the Cobalt mining case was concluded Friday, and Chancellor Boyd, after being informed that there was little hope of a settlement between the parties, reserved judgment.

ANGUS KIRKLAND DEAD.

TORONTO MANAGER OF BANK OF MONTREAL PASSES AWAY.

He Had Been With the Bank for a Generation—The Funeral Will Take Place To-day Privately—Ill for Some Time.

Mr. Angus Kirkland, manager of the office in Toronto of the Bank of Montreal, died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence, 100 St. George street. Mr. Kirkland had been ill for some time, and the end was not unexpected. He leaves a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Alexander Mackenzie, and a son, Mr. Travis Kirkland. The funeral, which will be private, will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the residence to Mount Pleasant cemetery. The late Mr. Kirkland was widely known in financial circles. He had been with the Bank of Montreal for about thirty-six years, commencing his career in the head office in Montreal. He was afterwards transferred to Toronto, and subsequently opened branches of the bank in Almonte and Chatham. He was for some time in charge of the Winnipeg office of the branch, and about nine years ago came from Winnipeg to Toronto to assume the management here. Mr. Kirkland was greatly interested in sports and athletics, and was a member of the Hunt Club, the Ontario Jockey Club, and the Toronto Club.

WAS HIS FRIEND DROWNED?

STRANGE STORY TOLD BY MAN RESCUED FROM DROWNING.

Canoe Was Capsized Near Western Sandbar—One Occupant Supposed to Have Been Drowned—Police Investigating the Tale Told Them.

There is some mystery about a story told by a young man who was rescued from drowning in the bay on Saturday evening concerning the disappearance of his friend, who, he said, was with him in a canoe which capsized about five hundred yards east of the free swimming baths on the western sandbar. Wm. La Plante of 185 Berkeley street and Edward Grandeur of 243 Parliament street were the rescuers, and they reported to the police that the man who was rescued said that his friend was drowned. La Plante and Grandeur were crossing the bay in a canoe to haul the boat. They passed a canoe going towards Brook street and had proceeded about fifty yards, when they heard some one calling for help. Returning, they found a man struggling in the water. Grasping his coat collar, they held him against the side of the canoe until a meeking owned by Arthur Whinton came to their assistance. While being taken to the Brook street wharf the young man, who refused to divulge his name, said that his friend had been rescued by a passing gasoline launch, but when he reached the wharf he told an altogether different story, declaring that his companion had been drowned. The rescuing party hastened back, but their search was fruitless, and when they returned to the dock the young man had disappeared. The police are investigating.

IN MEMORY OF GARIBALDI.

Services Held at the Italian Mission on Saturday.

In commemoration of the Italian patriot Garibaldi services were held at the Italian mission on Agnes street on Saturday night. Mayor Cossworth presided and among those present and who spoke were Dr. Harley Smith, Italian Consul; Rev. Dr. Withrow, Michael Basso, Signor Giuseppe Garibaldi, Rev. G. Merlino, Alex. Mills and Mr. Wallis T. Fisher. The latter gentleman returned to the mission through the pastor, Mr. Merlino, an Italian emigrant-union jack to be hung in the rooms of the mission. A group of Italian children, dressed in Garibaldi style, marched from the rear of the audience room to the platform and, first waving Union Jacks, sang the British national anthem, and then waving Italian flags sang Garibaldi's hymn. A song by Miss Parlow in Italian, instrumental music by Mrs. Mabel Bastardo Mills and patriotic recitations by the children brought the novel and unique celebration to a close.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

Mr. Rechab Tandy and his pupils were greeted by an audience which completely crowded the Conservatory Music Hall on Thursday last. Mr. Tandy combined his own singing with that of his pupils, which gave to the recital the character of a regular concert. The original audience displayed much enthusiasm, and frequent recalls were the order of the evening. Those who sang were: Miss Irene Miller, Miss Gertrude Morrow, Miss Olive Madge, Miss Christine Thomson, Miss Mary C. Houston, Miss Flossie Snell, Miss Nellie F. Guess, Miss Myrtle Gallagher, Mrs. Thomas H. McKnight, Mr. Robert Kenny, Mr. Crawford R. Butler. Their singing displayed good voices, with excellent voice production and clear enunciation of words. Mr. Walter Murch's clear, robust tenor voice was heard to splendid advantage in a duet with Mrs. Walter Murch, "The Wings of the Dove" (Watson), the singing of which evoked such a favorable impression that the singers were persistently recalled. Mrs. Louise Handy Murch also sang an aria by Donizetti, which showed her bright soprano voice and artistic training to much advantage. Mr. Rechab Tandy contributed several classical and popular songs in his well-known finished style, concluding the programme with a stirring interpretation of Adam's "The Holy City" with organ obligato by Mr. A. E. Redsell, and by Mr. J. W. F. Harrison, who also played an organ solo with ability and acceptance. The accomplishments were played in an artistic manner by Mrs. Walter Murch, Miss Mary C. Houston and Mr. Edmund Hardy, Mus. Bac.

Mr. Ben Greet and his company played at Tuxedo on Saturday and are at Lehigh University to-day. They had a most notable audience on Saturday, composed of many widely known people in the United States who have summer places at the far-famed Tuxedo. In view of the very many demands on him for the pastorals both in America and England, Mr. Greet has been compelled to give up a more extended tour of Canada, and his stay in Toronto this week completes his entire visit to Canada. In August Mr. Greet and his company will appear at Carisbrook Castle before King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and their niece and King Alfonso. The plays will be given in the residence garden at Toronto University and will begin at 3 in the afternoon and 8.15 in the evening. The programme is as follows: Wednesday, June 6th, afternoon, "As You Like It" evening, "The Comedy of Errors"; Thursday, June 7th, afternoon, "The Merry Wives of Windsor" evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Friday, June 8th, afternoon, "The Merry Wives of Windsor" evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Saturday, June 9th, afternoon, "The Merry Wives of Windsor" evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor". The sale of reserved seats begins at Tyrrell's bookstore this morning at 9 o'clock.

A most interesting concert was given before a large audience in St. Margaret's College on Friday evening last. The young ladies taking part did most creditable work. Miss Marshall is a pupil of Mr. J. D. A. Tripp and a former pupil of the college. Her programme was very exacting, but her rendering of it proved her to be a musical scholar of great ability. Miss Edna Beal's playing of the violin was heartily received, her interpretation of Chopin's "Impromptu" and Schubert's "Zauberlied" showed a keen appreciation of the compositions. Miss Olive Anderson possesses a beautiful mezzo-soprano voice which gives much promise for the future. The programme was as follows:—Beethoven, Sonata, Op. 27, No. 2 (complete), Miss Marshall; (a) Dvorak, Humoreske, (b) Schubert, Zauberei, Miss Edna Beal; (a) Chopin, Etude, Op. 25, No. 3, Miss Marshall; (b) Chopin, Polonaise "Militaire," Miss Marshall; (a) Chadwick, Allah; (b) Maud Valerie White, The Spring Has Come, Miss Olive Anderson; (c) Chopin, Etudes Nos. 3 and 5, (d) Rheinberger, La Chasse, Op. 10, Miss Marshall; Spohr, Adagio, Miss Edna Beal; Liszt, "Les Preludes" (symphonic poem arranged for two pianos), Miss Marshall and Miss Helen Grantham.

BAPTIST MINISTER RESIGNS.

Rev. Charles W. King of Parliament Street Will Leave in September.

The congregation of Parliament Street Baptist Church were startled last night by the pastor, the Rev. Charles W. King, announcing his resignation of the pastorate after a successful ministry of six years. Mr. King gave as his reasons for resigning his desire to seek some other church, as the work in Parliament Street was necessarily very heavy, and he felt he could now leave, as the church was in an excellent condition, with a membership of 450 or over, and with a yearly revenue from all sources of about double what it was when Mr. King accepted the pastorate. He announced that he desired to be at liberty by September 1, or sooner if convenient, and that he would assist the church all he could to secure a successor.

Since Mr. King became pastor the interior of the church has been greatly improved and a new organ put in. The church debt has been reduced to a small sum for such an active congregation, and the Mission Church on Eastern avenue, which is under the supervision of Parliament Street Church, has been greatly enlarged, and is now in charge of an assistant pastor. The joint Sabbath schools of the church and mission have a scholarship roll of more than 550, and there are two senior and two junior Young People's Societies, with large and active membership. In his reference to his resignation Mr. King said he had the most loyal and most hard-working band of church officers any pastor could have. Before coming to Toronto Mr. King had a successful pastorate at Kingston.
